Missing girls found

Two Granite City girls, missing since May 9, were found early Saturday morning in a downtown apartment occupied by two men, 29 and 31 years old.

Jennifer L. Beck, 15, of the 2800 block of Pershing Boulevard and Christy A. Younger, 16, of Edwardsville Road, were found by Granite City detectives at an apartment over the former Hudson's Jewelry store, located at the corner of 19th and State streets, at 5 a.m. May 16. They had been missing from home one week.

Acting on a tip regarding an automobile owned by one of the men the girls were believed to be associating with, police searched the downtown area, spotted the car, went to the apartment and found the girls, detectives said.

The girls had been missing since they went to The Billiards Club, 1820 Cleveland Blvd., May 9. Beck called her grandmother and legal guardian, Pauline Gibbear, at about 11 p.m. to say she would be home in 15 minutes, but never returned home, Gibbear said.

An investigation into the matter is continuing.

Local candidates interviewed

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A new superintendent of schools may be chosen Tuesday night. Following five closed-session interviews of in-house candidates, lasting about three hours, the Granite City School District Board of Education took no action last night.

The board will either offer the position to one of the five candidates at its regular meeting Tuesday or continue the interview process with applicants from outside the district, Board President Mark Evenson said.

The five district employees interviewed last night were Steve Balen, Region 1/special education director; Pat Gonwa, assistant principal at Coolidge Junior High School; Jim Jeffries, Coolidge principal; Pat Schuman, administrative assistant for personnel; and Mike Sikora, director of secondary education for the district.

Although the deadline for in-house applications was April 24, Sikora applied for the position May 18. Superintendent Gilbert "Gib" Walmesley said Walmesley forwarded Sikora's application to the School Board and the board decided to consider his candidacy and grant him an interview.

Evenson said he was impressed by all five candidates' performances in the interview process.

"They all did an outstanding job," Evenson said. He said he is sure at least one of the candidates is well qualified for the position.

The deadline for out-of-district applications is the end of the day Friday. Fourteen out-of-district candidates had submitted applications for the position by Wednesday.

The vacancy is created by Walmesley's resignation effective June 30, after 29 years of service to the district. Walmesley was hired April 7 to become the superintendent in the Moline School District July 1.

Salvation Army seeks full United Way funds

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The Salvation Army of Granite City has not received any funds from the Tri-Cities Area United Way since December.

Capt. Curtis Hartley of the Salvation Army says. But United Way officials say the Salvation Army has refused to accept funds, in protest of a reduction in their annual allocation.

The United Way campaign, in newspaper publications and in their annual report, stated that $55,000 would be allocated to the Salvation Army. But the United Way Board of Directors voted March 18 to reduce the agency's allocation to $22,550. The remaining $32,450 was allocated to other agencies.

The reason for the reduction, United Way board member Dennis Orsey said, is the local agency cannot verify how its United Way dollars are spent on direct financial assistance to those in need.

"It is the role of the United Way ... to assess the needs of the community and see that those needs are met," Orsey said.

"We aren't looking for large amounts of money spent on administrative expenses or contributed to a national organization. We are here for this community. This is not to say the Salvation Army doesn't play a valuable role in the community. But we would like to see them play a more direct role," Orsey said.

He said an auditor, for at least the past five years, has reported that he cannot tell from the agency's books how dollars allocated by the United Way are being spent.

Salvation Army Divisional Commander Lt. Col. Dennis L. Orsey said.

Salvation Army to hold its own fund campaign

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Citing unrealistic expectations from The Tri-Cities Area United Way in allocating funds, the Salvation Army of Granite City is turning to the community for support.

The United Way Board of Directors voted March 18 to reduce the agency's allocation to $22,550. The remaining $32,450 was allocated to other agencies. The Salvation Army is initiating a fund-raising campaign in an attempt to compensate for the shortfall. Such a campaign would violate United Way rules.

Commander Lt. Col. Dennis L. Phillips said the local agency is now beginning a campaign seeking assistance directly from the public. Letters have been mailed, and those who have assisted the agency in the past are being asked to help.

"Hungry families are still coming to us. Homeless men, women and children still seek refuge through the Salvation Army. We trust the people of this community to stand by us in our time of need, even as we have stood by thousands of individuals in their time of need during recent years," Phillips said.

United Way Board Member Dennis Orsey said, while the fund-raising organization has received no notification from the Salvation Army regarding their intent, such a campaign would violate United Way regulations. "If they were to conduct a campaign, it would be in clear violation of United Way rules," Orsey said.

The United Way has strict guidelines regarding when and how member agencies may conduct fund-raising campaigns.

"We have received no communication from the Salvation Army, but would like to know what action they intend to take," Orsey said.

— Ed Lee Salmond, fire chief and member of the fire district board, shows the part that must be fixed before the fire department can return to fighting fires.

Eagle Park district won't fight fires

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

The Eagle Park Fire Department is no more. Ed Lee Salmond, fire chief and member of the fire district board, said Tuesday that a lack of equipment and personnel have made it impossible for his department to respond to fires.

The department had dwindled to three active volunteers, including Salmond. The Eagle Park Fire Protection District, while a taxing body, has never collected any taxes; it has been funded with donations and fund-raising events. Salmond said the board decided earlier this year to start requiring residents to contribute $200 per family for fire protection and set a payment deadline of March 31.

"Now it's May and nobody has sent in a dime," Salmond said. "The truck's broke, nobody wants to help fix it, nobody wants to join the department, so we're not going to any more fires. Not a house, not a car, not even a garbage can. We just can't do it."

Salmond said he can't get anyone interested in the department unless something is turning.

"Then they want me to just throw them the keys to the truck," Salmond said. "But no one is willing to commit to training. No one wants to help keep up the equipment and no one wants to pay for anything."

"So as far as I'm concerned there is no fire department. There will be no fire department until they get off their lazy butts and help out. When I say butts, I mean butts, not their sitting down place."

Salmond said the last two fires in Eagle Park

— one a house that is literally a stone's throw from the fire department — went unthought by the Eagle Park Fire Department. In one case, however, the Madison Fire Department cut out the fire under a mutual aid agreement with the Eagle Park department.

Salmond said he supposed the fire district board could have chosen to continue to "pretend" it had a department and continue to call in Madison for mutual aid.

"I guess you could get a bunch of guys together, go to a fire and then yell at Madison for help," Salmond said. "But a bunch of untrained guys would only get in Madison's way and put their guys in danger. And I doubt Madison would keep providing free service very long."

"But I don't care if Madison, Granite City or anyone else wants to come in here and fight fires. Let them. But we're not going to fight any more until these people with their arms stretched out to get something bend their arms, roll up their sleeves and help out."

"It's time for the people of Eagle Park to put up or shut up. If they want fire protection, they're going to have to either work for it or pay for it. They may expect to get something for nothing, but they're going to get nothing for nothing."

"That's cold, but it's the truth." Salmond said if residents want to save the fire department they should send their $200 per family donation to Clarence Rhodes, president of the board of the Eagle Park Fire Protection District. He said the donation should be in the form of a check made out to the fire district.

Man confesses to bank robberies

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A 42-year-old Granite City man who was arrested here last week for offenses related to motor vehicles confessed to at least two out-of-state bank robberies in the past two months, police say.

Raymond R. Thomas, 42, of the 2500 block of Hodges Street, was arrested at 4:30 p.m. May 13 for offenses relating to motor vehicles.

Capt. Kim Pomeroy of the Granite City Police Department said Thomas is alleged to have rented an automobile in Florida with a stolen credit card. Thomas never returned the vehicle, Pomeroy said.

Det. Randy Parks, who investigated the incidents and interrogated Thomas Monday, said that Thomas has confessed to at least two bank robberies, theft of an automobile and burglarizing another, using stolen credit cards and attempting to use Jacob's Well Christian Book Store in Granite City.

"The book store robbery is what got me going on the case," Parks said. "We had a report of a car with Florida license plates near the store, so we ran the plates (through the computer), set up surveillance and grabbed him when he returned to the car."

Parks said Thomas, who was born in Madison and has family here, has confessed to at least two bank robberies, one in April and another in May. Thomas was charged and arrested in St. Petersburg, Fla., and another in Biloxi, Miss.

Thomas was arrested for the alleged St. Petersburg robbery, but released from jail there on his recognizance, apparently for health reasons, Parks said.

He said Thomas also confessed to renting a car May 5 in Clearwater, Fla., with one of several credit cards he had stolen while at a small hospital in Florida. Thomas then traveled north and allegedly burglarized a vehicle in Biloxi and spent the night in a mission there May 7, Parks said.

The next morning, Thomas attempted to rob a car in Biloxi, Parks said.

Thomas was arrested for the alleged vehicle burglary and bank robbery in Biloxi, Miss. He sought warrants Wednesday in relation to the alleged vehicle burglary and bank robbery in Biloxi, Miss.

Thomas was being held in the Madison County Jail Wednesday on $100,000 bond.

McKinley Bridge may get new deck

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

The McKinley Bridge's "washboard" road surface may become only a bad memory for the more than 17,000 drivers who cross it each day if a plan proposed Wednesday is approved by the Federal Highway Commission.

A $3.3 million federal grant for repairs to the toll bridge, owned by the city of Venice, was included in last year's federal highway bill. In a meeting Wednesday, the city, Illinois Department of Transportation and Hardesty and Hanover of New York, the consulting engineers for the bridge, presented a proposal to the highway commission to use the grant money to replace the traffic deck and railings on the bridge.

"I think the chances are really good this will be done," Henry Fischer of Hardesty and Hanover told the Venice City Council on Tuesday. "I feel confident that this represents the most effective way to use the money."

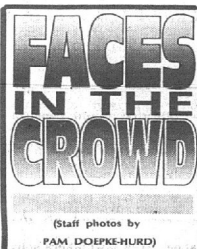

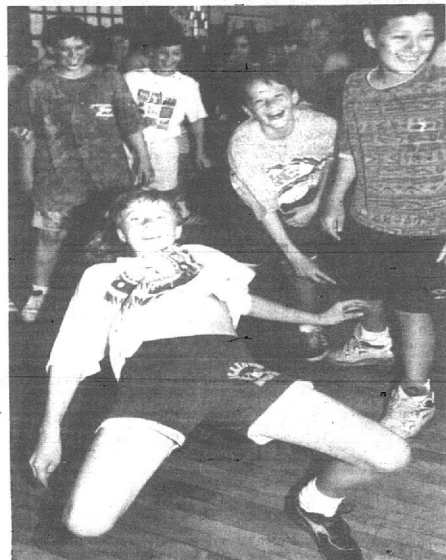

Fischer said the proposal calls for complete replacement of the traffic deck of the bridge, including removal of the railroad tracks in the center lanes, and replacement of all of the bridge railings. He estimated the total cost of the project would be $7.9 million.

He said the $2 million difference, which would be paid by the city and state, is well within the city's budget.

Three other people were arrested on misdemeanor "failure to appear" warrants at a home in the 200 block of Carver Street, Eagle Park, where eight officers made buys, Weissenborn said.

Elmer C. Gardner, 38, of the 300 block of Allen Street in Eagle Park was arrested on a failure-to-appear warrant from Madison. Eugene Kuehnle, 36, of the 200 block of Carver was arrested on an Edwardsville warrant for failure to appear. And Wendy R. All three were turned over to the police departments where the warrants were issued, Weissenborn said.

The joint investigation continues, and will continue as long as there are drug sales, Weissenborn said.

Tougher welfare bill OK'd

SPRINGFIELD — A divided Senate has voted to punish welfare recipients who don't seek jobs and training.

The bill, sponsored by Republican Adeline Geo-Kush of Zion, says people on welfare must make a reasonable number of employer contacts or face the possibility of losing aid for three months.

The vote followed a rowdy debate over whether welfare recipients abuse state aid.

"I'm really perplexed about people who have spoken against this bill. How successful have we been at solving the problems of poverty?" shouted Frank Watson, R-Greenville, the author of his own controversial bill to penalize public aid recipients who have more children.

The debate Wednesday centered on whether the measure, dubbed "learnfare," encourages recipients to find a job or punishes them for becoming unemployed.

Several Democrats said the measure punishes those who are trained but have no work available in their field. They said it also requires job training without making such education more affordable and available.

Funds

Phillips said the local Salvation Army spent $10,000 of its 1991 United Way allocation on direct assistance, but spent more than $65,000 of its total budget, including resources such as the Illinois Department of Public Aid, Federal Management Assistance Funds and gifts in kind, on direct aid to needy individuals.

"To the best of our knowledge, no one in need was turned away," Phillips said.

The Salvation Army returned a first-quarter check, saying the United Way was morally, if not legally, obligated to distribute the previously announced $55,000.

But Orsey, a former chairman of the Allocations Committee, said restricted funding has always been a part of the allocation process.

"No agency is entitled to unrestricted money at any level," Orsey said.

The Salvation Army is dedicated to its mission statement, which emphasizes the "whole person," including body, soul and mind, Phillips said.

"The Tri-Cities Area United Way has made it very clear that they are interested in supporting only one dimension of the Army's mission, but this Salvation Army remains committed to the century-old mission of ministering to the whole person," Phillips said.

Intervention and prevention programs are among those Phillips said the Army would have to forfeit to meet the United Way criteria. Programs include character building, music teaching and recreation activities for children, youth, young adults and older citizens. Those programs had a total attendance of more than 6,000 last year, including at least 346 different individuals. Denominational activities, 285 of them with attendance of more than 8,800 last year, also fail to meet United Way criteria, Phillips said.

"These programs actually save the taxpayer hundreds of thousands of dollars in future years as these youth grow up to be contributing citizens rather than liabilities in our society," Phillips said.

"The Salvation Army, apparently, feels that all community needs are being fulfilled," Orsey said. "It is almost as if they think they are the only agency meeting the needs of the community."

"It is our (the United Way's) perception that needs are going unmet. There are other agencies that are willing to accept United Way dollars to meet those needs," Orsey said.

Orsey said the United Way would like for the agency to spend at least 50 percent of its allocation on direct assistance. He said the Salvation Army has been told several times over the past five years of the United Way's concern about verification.

"A few months ago, in an attempt to reconcile this matter, the Salvation Army of Granite City committed themselves to make an honest effort to expend 50 percent of the United Way allocation on direct assistance," Phillips said. "The United Way's response was, 'that was not good enough.'"

"We were told that we had to absolutely guarantee 50 percent before they would allocate any of our money for 1992. In good faith and in all honesty, we, the Salvation Army, would not make such a guarantee," Phillips said.

"We've heard these promises before," Orsey said. "We need a commitment."

The initially announced United Way allocation of $55,000 would represent about 17.8 percent of the agency's annual budget. The revised allocation figure was determined by adding $13,750 (25 percent of the initial allocation) and $8,800, the amount United Way says the agency spent on direct assistance in 1991.

The Salvation Army is initiating a fund raising campaign in an attempt to compensate for the shortfall.

The Salvation Army provides assistance to needy individuals by means of a food pantry, lodging assistance for the homeless, an advocacy and referral service coordinated with other service providers, financial assistance to help defray the cost of prescription medication, transportation services to assist those seeking employment, help with utility bills, first and last month's rent, fans during summer months, and school supplies for needy students. It is the distribution center for federal commodities in Nantook Township. It has been in existence in Granite City for nearly 70 years, and is associated with the national Salvation Army organization.

The Tri-Cities Area United Way is affiliated with a national United Way. It is an umbrella fund-raising agency which organizes an annual campaign for more than 20 member agencies and allocates the resources based upon services provided to meet community needs.

"There seem to be other reasonable alternatives that are not being considered," Lott said. The subcommittee has the power of subpoena, but he said he was unsure how many local witnesses, if any, might be called upon to testify.

Tarporff, now a Granite City alderman, called Costello's announcement "great news" and said he hopes it will lead to a re-evaluation of the EPA's decision. He said the EPA seems "flustered about the waste pile, which is an undisputed hazard, while being adamant about the yard soil, which has not proven to be a health problem."

Recently, Tarporff said, the EPA was asked to test the lead levels at various depths in the soil when it drills its monitoring wells around Tarporff pile, but the EPA refused.

"It costs about $40 or $50 a soil sample and they're drilling the holes anyway. It's not like we were asking (the EPA) to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars," Tarporff said.

Brad Bradley, the EPA's project manager for the Tarporff cleanup, was unavailable for comment Wednesday. In an earlier interview in conjunction with the federal lawsuits, Bradley said he and the EPA "look forward to" defending and explaining its decision-making process.

"The EPA hasn't been able to convince (anyone) it has followed a definite process of evaluating and selecting. Instead, it would appear (the EPA) has decided on a game plan and is going to stick to it despite all odds," Lott said. "Especially regarding the (Tarporff) pile, of Decision on the Tarporff site, saying the EPA's has failed to prove its decision was based on either common sense or scientific data."

The EPA's cleanup plan is being contested by Granite City in a lawsuit filed by the city in federal court. NL Industries, a former owner of the site, and a number of other industries that the EPA has identified as potentially responsible for the contamination have also filed federal lawsuits contesting the cleanup plan.

The EPA's risk assessment process and resulting plan for Tarporff were the subject of a professional paper presented at the 25th annual Conference on Trace Substances in Environmental Health in 1991 by Granite City Public Works Director Brett Hanke and Craig Tarporff.

Hanke called the EPA's justification "a Frankenstein's monster built of bits and pieces" of scientific models and data.

Brian Lott, Costello's administrative assistant, said the EPA is not necessarily being accused of doing anything wrong, but that there are enough questions about the decision to merit having EPA officials come in and explain the EPA's thinking and decision-making process.

One possible problem, Fischer said, would be the removal of the rail road tracks. Although the tracks are not used, the Terminal Rail Road Association in Granite City pays the city $250,000 a year for the right to use them if needed in the future.

"I don't see the federal government approving replacement of the deck with the rail road tracks left in place," Fischer said. "While I don't think the rail road wants to use the tracks, I doubt the city wants to give up $250,000 a year either."

But, because the access agreement holds the rail road responsible for any repairs to the bridge deck supporting the tracks, Fischer said he is sure there is room for negotiation with the rail road.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said it is possible that a smooth surface will increase bridge usage enough to put the city in a position of refinancing the bridge and getting enough money to do a complete overhaul. Fischer said a recent engineering study of the bridge estimated it would cost $25 million to fix the bridge "first rate."

The current $8 million in outstanding bonds on the bridge are due to be paid off in 1998. A year ago the city began looking at the possibility of refinancing the bridge using a new $25 million bond issue, but a study and search for potential bond buyers by Shearson Lehman Brothers of St. Louis based on the current projected revenue of the bridge was not promising.

Labor bills advance in Legislature

SPRINGFIELD — Organized labor has scored first-round victories on two major bills before the Legislature.

By wide margins, the House Tuesday approved a union-backed bill that would penalize companies that hire permanent replacements for strikers and another that would require larger firms to grant unpaid leave for family emergencies.

Both measures now go to the Senate, where there is a narrower Democratic advantage.

Democrats supplied all the votes for the anti-strikebreaker legislation. Area lawmakers split on partisan lines, with Democrats Jim McPike of Alton, Sam Wolf of Granite City, Gary Hanig of Benld and Jay Hoffman of Collinsville in favor, and Republican Tom Ryder of Jerseyville against.

Legislation to bar state and local governments from doing business with firms that hire permanent replacement workers for strikers also passed the House last year but came up one vote short in the Senate.

AFL-CIO officials said they are confident they can get the measure through the Senate this year.

They said they are hoping an emotional response by union members to the recent threat by Caterpillar Inc. to replace strikers will persuade Gov. Jim Edgar to sign the bill.

The chief sponsor in the House, Rep. Mike Curran, D-Springfield, argued that trying to discourage permanent replacements "keeps people at the bargaining table."

"Without this legislation we're losing workers, we're losing communities and manufacturing plants," he said.

Rep. William Black, R-Danville, argued the legislation would drive manufacturers out of the state. He said if the law had been in place and Caterpillar had hired permanent replacements before the walkout was settled, it could have shifted business to a Japanese competitor.

The family leave legislation passed the House with bipartisan support, with 82 yes votes and only 30 against. The vote among area lawmakers was the same as on the anti-strikebreaker bill.

It would require companies with 50 or more employees to allow up to eight weeks of unpaid leave for taking care of ill family members or for child birth or adoption.

Virtually identical legislation passed last year but was vetoed by Edgar. Former Gov. James Thompson also vetoed two family leave bills.

Clean-up

Subcommittee on Investigations and Oversight of the House Public Works and Transportation Committee. Cost of the hearing has not been set.

"Despite the efforts of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to explain the need for this clean-up to the residents of Granite City, there remain questions from the community about the risk posed by this lead pile," Costello said. "It is my hope that this hearing will clarify how EPA makes its decisions about the use of its Superfund program."

Costello contrasted a 1992 study by the Illinois Department of Public Health that showed 16 percent of the children in Granite City had higher-than-average blood-lead levels with a 1990 IDPH study that showed more than 60 percent of the children in East St. Louis had blood-lead levels high enough to put them at risk for lead poisoning severe enough to cause learning or behavioral problems.

"While there is no doubt that the Tarporff pile poses a threat and must be resolved, there remain questions over the cleanup process and the immediate risk to human health," Costello said. "Other sites in Illinois, including East St. Louis, have tremendous lead problems which may require immediate federal attention as well."

Local officials, including the mayors of Granite City, Madison and Venice, have consistently criticized the EPA's 1990 Record

Pay the man

For 29 years the Granite City School District has had a hard-working, dedicated employee, yet in approving his resignation last week two school board members wanted to withhold about $13,000 due him.

In his years with the district, Gilbert Walmesley has accumulated 293 sick days. As an incentive the district agrees to buy back sick days its employees do not use, but since Walmesley agreed to a contract extension through 1994 two board members did not want the district to honor its contract.

Gilbert Walmesley is leaving to take the superintendent's post at Moline School District. If Granite City School District had considered a new contract rather than an extension of Walmesley's old deal, the board may have never had to make this decision.

Any incentive is designed to benefit both employer and employee. By not using his sick days the district did not have to pay a substitute to cover Walmesley's absences and students had the advantage of consistent education. The district paying off this debt is small change.

There is a silver lining in board members Monroe Worthen and Pete Novacich's negative votes. They showed they had the guts to offer a dissenting opinion. Residents elect board members to make decisions. Elected officials should only abstain from a vote in a matter of conflict of interest. Worthen and Novacich may have been wrong, but at least they had a reason. Jim Noeth's abstention was just wrong.

A lesson for big government

Government in Eagle Park is up close and personal.

Official meetings are often held under a shade tree in good weather and do not follow Roberts' Rules of Order. Problems are solved by getting all the people involved together to cuss and discuss the problem. The neighborhood agrees on a solution. Each argument and position is judged on its merits, not its source — the opinions of the elected officials carry no more weight than that of ordinary citizens.

For the residents of Eagle Park, the sole purpose of government has always been to provide the citizens with things they cannot provide for themselves. It has done that by connecting people with problems to neighbors who were willing and able to lend a hand. Public projects in Eagle Park, from the community center to the drainage ditches, are the result of free labor, supplies and equipment provided by the people themselves.

For almost 40 years, the system has worked — Eagle Park has had good government. But the collapse of the Eagle Park Fire Department is a sure sign that the era of good government is at an end in Eagle Park.

What went wrong? People changed. People began thinking of government as someone to call rather than a way of offering help.

The government was expected to make good on all the wrongs of society, to compensate people for not being able to live on Easy Street, to feed the hungry, to clothe the poor, to house the homeless, and to leave everyone else free to sit on their porch and watch the world go by.

People wanted a government for the people, but by somebody else.

To their credit, the good citizens of Eagle Park have continued to try to hold the community together. But their community center has fallen to vandals. Trash pick-up ended when the poorly-paid young employees left for the brighter lights of the drug trade. The neighborhood began a downhill slide, a slide that by now may be impossible to reverse, when money-hungry landlords started renting to pimps, drug dealers and others in allied illegal trades.

Now the fire department can't get the commitment of volunteers to train as firefighters. The fire truck is broken and no one is willing to pay to get it fixed. So far, the Madison Fire Department has provided free response to fires, so no one seems really excited.

Eagle Park is a very small corner of the world, but its problems should serve as a lesson for all democratic governments. The problems that brought Eagle Park to its knees are the same problems eating away at the foundations of democracy everywhere.

People everywhere are unwilling to participate in government. The best and brightest are not running for office. Political campaigns are left to political hacks. The public at public hearings is usually made up of the same old tired collection of do-gooders, activists and wannabe politicians. Even the easiest method of participating — voting — seems to be too strenuous an activity for most people. Less than half of the people eligible are registered to vote and only about a third of those vote with any regularity.

By its example, Eagle Park has shown us it is very easy to destroy democracy. All it takes is for the people to do nothing.

Take the advice

The Granite City Council, at the urging of community business leaders, is considering hiring an independent consultant to advise them on efficiency, or lack thereof, in the city government as it exists today.

It is commendable that the council and administration are seeking professional, expert advice on ways to save the taxpayers' dollars. In fact, we think the job should have been done years ago. In today's economy, no city can continue to operate on policies set 20, 30 or 40 years ago.

On the other hand, should the report advise the city to make personnel cuts where services are duplicated, and in some areas triplicated, as we suspect will be the case, the city fathers will have some difficult — perhaps politically disadvantageous — decisions to make.

But city officials are elected for just that purpose — as representatives of the citizens, to make the decisions that are in the public's best interest. Not in the best interest of friends and relatives, not in the best interest of getting re-elected, but in the best interest of the community they represent.

The consultant's fee will be money well spent if the city takes the recommendation to heart.

If, on the other hand, the report is "put on the shelf" to gather dust, the voters may have some personnel cuts of their own to make come election time.

Seeking photos of five mayors

TO THE EDITOR:

To the residents of Granite City — On March 9, 1896, Granite City was incorporated. Nineteen mayors have served this city since that time.

I have been told that pictures of these mayors hung on the walls of City Hall at one time. But what happened to these pictures after the Board Room was redecorated no one seems to know.

At the mayor's request, I have been spending a great amount of time the past year trying to find pictures of these men. I have located all but the following:

- James G. McRoberts, first mayor, was the first general superintendent of the American Steel Company. I have visited American Steel. They do not have Mr. McRoberts' picture.
- Mark Henson, second mayor, was married to the former Belle Wadsworth of Collinsville. He was a teacher at the Kinderhook School, superintendent of Madison County schools and president of the First National Bank. No pictures.
- John Edwards, fourth mayor, was born in Wales, settled in Indiana and came to Granite City in 1901. He was badly burned at the pump house during the flood of 1903 and died eight days later. His remains were taken to Indiana.
- George Kennedy, the eighth mayor, filled the unexpired term of Charles Uzzell in 1910.
- Arthur Jennings served as mayor in 1933-34 and later worked for the Press-Record.

In 1968, Granite City will celebrate the centennial of its incorporation. Please help us locate these pictures so that they will be hanging on the walls of the City Hall, the Grainger Library and the Old Six Mile Museum for this very special occasion.

Youths honored for achievement

TO THE EDITOR:

The Granite City Ambassadors, Central Bank and Granite City School District 9 with great support from the Press-Record and St. Gregory's Hall combined efforts to present one of the best youth achievement programs since its inception.

Over 250 people enjoyed a first-class affair with dinner, hearing "America's Best Teacher of 1991," Ed Schroeder, deliver a tremendous message. They heard the message delivered by their peers from elementary and junior high schools as outstanding teachers with deep community involvement. Finally, they saw graduating seniors with the most incredible credentials that one can imagine.

The program lets the students and teachers know that their outstanding performance is the standard which the people of Granite City expect, and how much we appreciate their efforts.

No longer will we permit mediocrity or less to be the peer pressure group, but honors will go to young people who reach for distant goals.

The Ambassadors' "Search for Excellence" was certainly not in vain, as our honored students received literally hundreds of thousands of dollars in academic scholarships from the best colleges in the United States.

Our aim and our request to the students is that, if their life work will allow, we want them to bring their talents, their intelligence and their energies back to Granite City. A community which has given them so much is deserving of their help.

We hope that the cooperation of the Central Bank, the Ambassadors and the schools will be the future trend, showing just what excellence can be attained when we all work together for a common goal — that being, "doing everything we do first-class."

Devote bonds to other purposes

TO THE EDITOR:

I recently read in the Press-Record/Journal where Pontoon Beach was going to float bonds for an aqua marine center.

With all the talk of the aqua center, no one brings out the price of admission to the center. Will it be $7 to $10 per person? Who at Pontoon Beach has the price of admission?

That brings up something else. Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant in Pontoon Beach is located where the old P.N. Hirsch used to be located, in the Oakmont Shopping Center. That dry goods store served the people of Pontoon Beach a lot more than some businesses do.

Pontoon Beach would be better served with a dry goods store. If Pontoon Beach can float bonds for an aqua marine center, why not float some bonds for a recreation center for Pontoon Beach's young people, who are the future citizens of Pontoon Beach.

We have no recreation facilities for young people except skating rink which raised their prices again.

That dry approaching summer once again and the children will be playing in the streets all summer with no swimming pool.

Doesn't anyone care?

Candidate not telling all facts

TO THE EDITOR:

As a registered Republican, I recently received a form letter from Gary Henderson, candidate for Madison County auditor.

Having read some recent press releases in area newspapers, I became concerned about some of his comments. In particular, I have a problem with some points Henderson made in his letter. He cited differences in budgets among three county auditors in Illinois, with Madison County's being the highest of the three.

John Driscoll, the auditor from St. Clair County, stated in recent articles that it was unfair to compare the St. Clair County auditor's budget with that of Madison County's due to the additional responsibilities of the Madison County auditor. Why did Henderson print this information when evidence shows it to be misleading?

Henderson also claimed that, if elected, he would cut outside services. As a CPA who has performed governmental audits, I know that outside services such as certified independent audits are required by law.

While counties may allocate outside services for certified independent audits to different departments, the audits still have to be performed. How can Henderson cut an outside service which is required by law?

I am deeply concerned about campaigns based on misleading information presented to the voting public.

Please, Mr. Henderson, before you print or publish any more information, know the facts and print all the information, so that voters can make a fair decision.

Dinner praised

TO THE EDITOR:

Recently we had the good fortune to be invited to eat at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College when the Hospitality-Foods class gave a dinner. It was the best meal ever.

The menu was stuffed pork chops, dressing, spinach salad and a dessert. Everything was delicious.

The class did a wonderful job of preparing and serving about 35 or more people. The tables were so pretty, set with linen cloths, china with a lavender border and dark lavender napkins.

The service was good, the food very tasty, the young students so accommodating. They planned, cooked and served this meal with several teachers in attendance, and all went well.

We were told of this event by a friend who lives in Granite City and who had received a mailing listing events at the Granite City Campus. We want to thank all those students for a marvelous evening, and our friend for asking us to share this event.

Corrections to this class.

Tax volunteers helped seniors

TO THE EDITOR:

Volunteer Week is the perfect time for me to recognize the people who served as volunteers for income tax assistance and tax counseling for the elderly this year.

These special people offered a helping hand to the elderly in order to make a difficult task easier. The Internal Revenue Service trains VITA and TCE volunteers who then offer free help to people.

Award recognizes proud homeowners

Ah the joys of spring. The birds all sing and laughter rings as children run and play. The bulky clothes of fall are packed away. New life springs eternal from the earth. Keep thinking those nice thoughts, because spring also means, get out the lawn mower, dig up those weeds, trim those hedges and paint the eaves.

For some though their homes and yards are more than just something to keep up with. Many take great pride and spend extra time improving their surroundings.

To reflect that pride the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and the Granite City Press-Record established a program in 1991 to recognize those homes. Because of its success the program enters its second annual phase.

Home Pride Awards were presented to 42 homes in the area last year. Homeowners were presented a certificate and a community Home Pride Award sign to be placed in the yard. Pictures of the winning homes were also published in the Press-Record.

The Press-Record will publish winners on the second Thursday of each month. The Granite City Press-Record established a program in 1991 to recognize those homes. Because of its success the program enters its second annual phase.

Each month through October the first round of awards are due to the Chamber office at 1831 Delmar by 5 p.m. May 29. Each month through October the first round of awards are due to the Chamber office at 1831 Delmar by 5 p.m. May 29.

of the chamber will choose a select number of properties to be awarded. Homes will be selected on the basis of nomination by members of the community based on the theory that neighbors know best who shows pride in ownership.

Nominations are open to any residence (including houses, apartments, and any other dwelling) in the Quad City area, including Nameoki, Chouteau, Venice and Granite City townships.

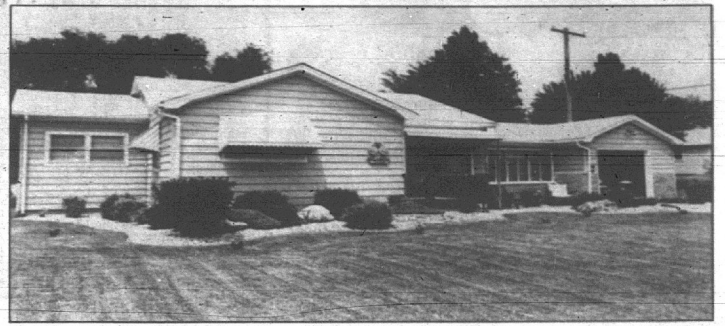

The award program was launched in conjunction with the chamber's Stash Trash community clean-up program.

Special emphasis will be placed on those properties that have become models for the rest of the neighborhood. Included will be owners who have remodeled, planted floral gardens, cleaned up or otherwise demonstrated significant pride in the exterior display of their homes and surrounding property.

To nominate someone for the award send the person's name, address, telephone number and a brief explanation of how their home shows community pride.

Nominations should be mailed to the Community Pride Committee, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, 1831 Delmar, Granite City, IL 62040. For more information call the chamber at 876-6400.

YOUTH FOCUS: Where would you like to travel and why?

(Asked of students at Madison Middle School, Wilson School and Venice School.)

Ronald Shaffer, Granite City
"To the moon. I would like to take a trip to the moon because it would be interesting, educational and fun. It would be fun to travel in space ships to the moon. As you were traveling you would see the earth from the space ship. When you landed on the moon you would have to wear a special space suit because there is no air on the moon. We would not be able to breathe. The gravity of the moon is much less; on the moon if you weigh 100 pounds on earth you would weigh only 17 pounds on the moon. I would also like to drill into the moon and collect samples of rocks to bring them back to earth."

Jennifer Hatzel, Granite City
"I would like to travel to Vallejo, Calif. I think it would be neat to see all that sunshine, the trees, and the beach. Another reason I want to visit Vallejo, Calif., is because my Aunt Judy lives there and I want to visit her."

Jessica Huiak, Granite City
"I would like to go to Hawaii. I would like to go there because I want to learn how to Hula. I would also like to visit the volcanoes. I would like to visit Honolulu and swim in the Pacific Ocean. It is always hot in the summer and it is rarely cold in the winter, unlike Granite City which in the winter, is cold."

Floyd Atkins, Venice
"If I could go any place I'd go to Paris. I would like to go there because I want to meet some of the world's famous painters. I'll go to see Vincent van Gogh's painting at the art show. When I see some paintings that I like, I'll buy them. If I could, I'd paint a few pictures myself. When I come home I'd tell everybody about my trip. Who knows, maybe I'll become a famous painter sometime too."

Mary Watts, Madison
"I would like to go to Hawaii. Because you could drink coconut milk. You could take lua lua lessons. Plus you could go to cool parties, and have great hotel rooms."

Shaun Turk, Granite City
"I would like to travel to Los Angeles, Calif. Because two of my favorite sports teams, the Los Angeles Raiders and the Los Angeles Rams, live there. I like Wayne Gretzky cause he is a great goal scorer."

Ericka Wiley, Venice
"If I could go anywhere in the world I would go to D.C. Why? Because I would go to see the Eiffel Tower. I would also go to the Mont-Gaint-Michel, and Chateau of Chenonceaux. Then I'd eat in the finest cafe ever."

Jaquelin D. Kramer, Granite City
"Where I would like to travel to would be to D.C. Why? Because I would like to see the White House and play a game of golf with the President. I would like to see where he goes when he is not doing anything, also I would like to have a night at the White House and see what it is like sleeping in the big White House. That is where I would like to travel."

Carl Ridenour, Granite City
"I would like to travel to Odeillo, France. There are 63 large flat mirrors standing on a hillside. Opposite of the flat mirrors is a huge, saucer-shaped mirror that covers one side of a ten-story building. Between the flat mirrors and the saucer-shaped mirror there is a tower with a solar furnace inside. That's why I want to go to Odeillo, France."

Deanna Ivy, Venice
"If I could go anywhere, I would go to Dallas, Texas. Why? Because I have relatives down there. My relatives have a swimming pool and a ranch. I could ride a horse and swim from the homework. My aunt would take me shopping and we would be buying from 7 in the morning to 9 that night. We would be buying clothes every second! I'd come home looking and talking like a cowgirl."

Amanda Kay Taylor, Madison
"I would like to go around the world to see Florida, New Mexico, Washington, D.C., Mississippi, Texas, Kansas, and other states. I would like to go to the Mickey Mouse Club. Maybe we could stay six days every place. I could go and tell all my friends and my family."

Jessica Brown, Granite City
"I would like to travel to New York so that I could visit Ellis Island. I would like to visit so that I could see where my grandpa and grandma had to go through the process of coming to America as children. I think it would also be interesting to visit the Statue of Liberty."

Norlin L. Parker, Madison
"I would like to go to California. So I could lay on the beach in the hot sun and collect seashells to bring back home. I also want to go to Universal Studios and Disneyland. I think I would have fun in California swimming, fishing, running on the beach. The only thing I don't like about California is earthquakes. But everything else is fine with me. And that is where I would travel."

Tara Chapman, Granite City
"The place I'd like to go to is Disney World in Orlando, Fla. The reason I've chosen Florida is because I've never traveled that far from home before. I would love to see the Disney characters and ride the rides. I would also like to see the ocean. I think the ocean is really pretty on television. Who knows maybe I'd even see some dolphins or sharks or some other kind of fish. This to me is my dream vacation."

Jeremy Nash, Madison
"I would like to go to Hawaii, because I could surf and swim. I could fly in an airplane or in a chopper. I could go deep sea fishing or sit on the beach. I could even go wind surfing and build a sand castle."

Frank Atkins, Venice
"I would like to travel to Hawaii because I can drink out of a pineapple with fruit juice in it. I hear the hotels are nice and I would enjoy service from a waiter. I would smell the wonderful food the waiter is bringing to me. I want to go surfing and go fast like a shark in the water. I would like to wake up with the beautiful sun in my face and the smell of the fresh air. That is why I want to visit Hawaii."

Jennifer Goodyear, Granite City
"I would like to travel to Ethiopia, which was once called Abyssinia. The reason why I would like to go to this country is to help the starving people there. When I think of all the food and clothing that this world throws away each year, I think of the small child just one of these things could put on a small child's face. If I had only one thing I could do, I would destroy all of the violence and hunger in this world and make it a better place."

Dawne Turner, Venice
"I would like to go to Africa. After the night is over, I would like to have a romantic dinner. When I get through traveling around Africa I would bring home some souvenirs."

Andre Turner, Venice
"I would like to study their nature and study about my ancestors. I would love to see the African people, their music, see them dance and see their art. I would also like to see the lions, tigers, panthers and the other animals in Africa. After the night is over, I would like to have a romantic dinner. When I get through traveling around Africa I would bring home some souvenirs."

Billy Creek, Madison
"I would like to go to the Grand Canyon. To go white water rafting. It's not very scary but it's a lot of excitement. There would be a time that I would be scared. Maybe if I'm lucky I could see Crystal Falls."

Travis L. Trot, Granite City
"I would like to go to Egypt. The reason I would go is because I could go swimming in the Nile River but fish might eat me up. I would ride a camel to an Egyptian village and study their culture. I would have a very neat experience. I would go to the pyramids of Egypt, one of the wonders of the world and explore. Then I would find treasure, be rich, and go home. That's why I want to travel to Egypt."

Andre Turner, Venice

Seminar helps officers deal with job stresses

By Ann-Marie Campos
Staff writer

The telephone rings at 8:35 a.m.

On the other end of the receiver is a young boy crying to the point that his words can hardly be understood. He sobs and says his mother is lying in pool on blood, the result of an argument with her boyfriend that ended with a gunshot to the head.

How would you respond? For the dispatchers, clerks and police officers of local police departments, they've been trained to handle the situation. It's the stress that follows that is sometimes left unattended.

"After it's over, when you have time to think about it," said Kathy Schwadick, telecommunications and support personnel supervisor at the Collinsville Police Department. "That's when it sets in and you realize that that was another human being it just happened to. We need to be part of the debriefing too."

"It can be difficult to determine what's serious and needs to be dealt with right then," said Mary Parker, a dispatcher for the Granite City Police Department. "You have to make fast decisions and hope your choices are the right ones."

In a predominantly male profession, women in law enforcement often find additional complications which create greater levels of stress.

As a way to relieve some of the stress a course, called Four Stress Reduction Techniques for Females in Law Enforcement and Correction, was conducted at the Belleville Area College, Granite City Campus May 14. The course was organized by the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission at the request of Granite City Chief of Police Don Knight. A total of 24 women from Madison, St. Clair and Bond counties attended.

"Men in law enforcement have stresses too, but for the women it's much higher," many of them are homemakers also," said Don Knight, Granite City Chief of Police. "Add that to the trauma, murders and accidents they deal with."

During the seminar the women aired their frustrations and vented out their frustrations on them. "Don't expect your family to know what's going on in your work," Heuchert said. "Talk with the ones you love. They're your support."

"We put stress on ourselves," said Jill Heuchert, prevention specialist for PIASA Health Center in Collinsville and keynote speaker. "We want to prove to ourselves that we can do it all. We blame ourselves for failure and don't take credit for our successes. Unlike men who are just the opposite."

Heuchert spent the morning, shedding some new light on stress. She explained how biological changes that occur under stress, such as increased heart rate, tightening of muscles and faster breathing, which are vital during an emergency situation to "fight or flee."

Although these bodily changes are necessary for an immediate response, it's the long-term effects that become detrimental to a person's health, causing heart disease, high blood pressure and cancer.

Other law enforcement employees haven't been that in touch with stress relief.

"I volunteer with church groups and youth groups," said Gall Gordon, sheriff's deputy at the Madison County jail. "I also try to counsel inmates while they're in jail, to help them see a way out of crime and drugs."

Heuchert said, "Stress protects us. It's what we do with it that counts. Change your attitude. 'You can't control everything,' she said. 'You can ruin today, you can ruin tomorrow. You can't change what happened, but you can change how you feel about it.'"

Stress is unavoidable. Preparing yourself with different options will make the situation easier to handle when it occurs. Take time out to have fun. Whether it's gardening, reading, or exercise, it will help take your mind off your worries and create a clearer, more positive perspective.

"The course has stressed the importance of not jumping to a conclusion before thinking it over," said Brian Hennrich, records secretary at the Granite City Police Department. "I'm going to try to stop taking my work home."

Heuchert suggested discussing your problems with close friends and relatives instead of venting out your frustrations on them. "Don't expect your family to know what's going on in your work," Heuchert said. "Talk with the ones you love. They're your support."

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Recently a woman came to this office and indicated that she had been in an automobile accident. Apparently she was driving and had three passengers in her car when the collision occurred. She was traveling on a thoroughfare when the man driving the other vehicle pulled out from an intersection into the path of her oncoming car. She alleged that he ran a stop sign, and he maintained that she was speeding.

The woman broke three ribs, broke her nose, and sustained a concussion. The passengers in her car were hurt even worse. One had a broken neck and was paralyzed. The man who pulled out from the intersection had liability limits on his insurance coverage of $100,000/$300,000. This means that a single injured person could collect up to $100,000, while the amount available to multiple injured parties was $300,000. She had the same limits on her policy.

What I want to discuss in this article is dividing up the proceeds from his insurance policy. This first issue in a case of this nature is the question of who is at fault. The man's automobile insurance carrier was arguing that there was comparative negligence on the part of the woman driver in that she was speeding when the accident occurred. If she was 20% at fault, as maintained by the man's company, then her insurance carrier would have to pay 20% of the damages to the injured parties, other than her.

The important thing to realize in a case of this nature, however, is that all of the injured passengers together have a total of "only" $300,000 available from the insurance company to compensate them for their injuries. At some point in time, a determination would have to be made as to how the money should be divided between the injured parties. Obviously, the more seriously injured passengers should receive a larger pro rata share than the less seriously injured people. The question is sometimes asked as to whether injured people in a case such as this should retain an attorney to represent their interests. Most attorneys will handle this type of case on a contingency fee basis. This means that the attorney takes a percentage of what he recovers for the client. How much an injured party receives from the "total pie" will be directly related to the seriousness of the injury and how aggressively the injured party, or his attorney, deals with the insurance companies.

Time to waste for Harris

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Aug. 17 might seem like a long way off to most of us, but it's coming in a hurry for Don Harris. He's hoping to get at least a couple hours of sleep between now and then.

Harris, 39, is the new head football coach at Granite City High School. He was hired at the May 12 school board meeting. He replaces Tom Wyrostek, who resigned April 28. Fall practice begins Aug. 17, but there is no time to waste.

"It's been busy the past week," Harris said during a brief break Tuesday at Maryville School, where he teaches. "It seems like I've been on the phone, at school or visiting with someone almost since I heard I got the job. You're not really aware of how much time it takes until you're the one making the decisions."

Kahoks bombard sluggish Warriors

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Fortunately for the Warrior baseball team, Tuesday's game didn't turn out to mean much when regional seedings were made later that night.

Anyone who saw the Collinsville Kahoks beat Granite City 9-3 at Fletcher Field wouldn't have hesitated to seed the Kahoks above the Warriors. But it didn't turn out that way (see related story).

It was all Kahoks as they jumped on Warrior starter Drake Marshall (1-5) for five runs in two-plus innings. Left-hander Joe Muniz went all the way to get his fifth win of the season. Only one of the Warriors' three runs was earned.

"This is a big victory," said Kahok coach Steve McFall. "Our

(See BASEBALL, Page 2B)

Harris, a 1971 graduate of Granite City High School, coached on a volunteer basis on Wyrostek's staff at North High School in the early 1980s. He joined Ron Yates' staff in 1985, then coached the freshmen from 1987-89 before moving up to the varsity when Wyrostek succeeded Yates in 1990.

"I know there are big shoes to fill," said Harris, thinking of the seniors on last fall's 8-2 team which made the state playoffs. "Larry Curry, Mike Vaughn, Drake Marshall, Billy Van Buskirk and players like that were great football players."

"But the seniors next year were guys I coached on the freshman team (in 1989). That's a fun group to coach. The sophomores were over 500 and the freshmen were right at 500. The football program is in good shape right now."

Harris is getting started at a relatively late date, but he doesn't feel like he's behind at all.

"I've been in the program, so we've been able to keep everything going," he said. "And Tom didn't let things drop off. We've got our camp (June 2-11) ready to go, the summer weight program is in line and we're in a summer passing league in Mascoutah. The transition has been good."

Harris began teaching full-time in 1989 — first at Prather, then at Maryville — and figures to eventually move to the high school.

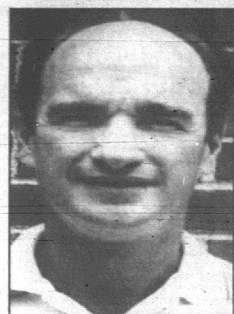

"It looks right now like Donny will be at Coolidge next year and hopefully the high school the year after that," said athletic director Greg Patton. "Coolidge is the next best thing. I can get with him pretty easily if anything comes up (Coolidge is right next to the high school)."

"Donny will do a fine job. My son has played for him in two sports, and I've heard nothing but nice things there. I know he's working hard already getting things together."

Harris got his teaching degree from SIUE in 1975. He was an all-metro second baseman in high school and played baseball in college. He coaches the sophomore basketball and baseball teams at the high school. He and his wife, Debbie, have three children: Donald, a sophomore at GCHS; Kevin, in seventh grade; and Sarah, in fourth grade. Debbie Harris is also an elementary school teacher in District 9.

Harris doesn't expect any other changes in the coaching staff. The district had to drop one football coach in 1991-92, but Harris said that with Wyrostek stepping down there shouldn't be any other switches. Bob Stegemeier and Larry Curry are the varsity assistants; Darren DeWoe and Al Lewis coach the sophomores; Kurt Hylla and Gene Gunderson coach the freshmen.

Warriors get second seed in regional

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Although 2-4 in the last six games, the Warrior baseball team came away from Tuesday's regional seeding meeting smelling like a rose.

Granite City (18-9) is the second seed in the Belleville West Regional, which will begin next week. The Warriors will host bottom seed East St. Louis (8-12) in the first round. Belleville West (20-5) is the top seed and gets a bye in the first round of the seven-team field. No. 6 Cahokia (13-9) plays at No. 3 Collinsville (15-8) and No. 5 Belleville East (16-13) plays at No. 4 East St. Louis. Lincoln (15-4) in other first-round games. The Lincoln-East winner will play Belleville West in the first semifinal game May 30 at 10 a.m. at West. The Granite City/East St. Louis winner plays the Collinsville/Cahokia winner at 12:30 p.m. The championship game is June 1 at 4 p.m., with the winner advancing to the Granite City Sectional on June 6 and June 8.

Total wins did it, I guess," said Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier, who was as surprised as anybody. "I thought we were going to be a fourth or fifth seed."

Flyer coach Art May said at the meeting that his team would not be able to play next Thursday because East St. Louis graduation is that night. But GCHS athletic director Greg Patton said Wednesday that the state says the quarterfinal games must be played that day.

"I'll have to check back with the state, but we might play that game at 1 p.m.," said Patton.

Girls soccer: The top-seeded Lady Warriors will open defense of their Granite City Sectional title with a home game at 7 p.m. Tuesday. That will be against the winner of Saturday's game between No. 16 Lutheran East and No. 17 Springfield Lanphier.

The sectional semifinals are at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. May 30 at Memorial Stadium, with the championship game at 7 p.m. June 2.

The Lady Warriors are the ninth and last seed in the Highland Regional and will play at No. 8 Jerseyville at 4:15 p.m. next Tuesday. If they win, they will play at No. 1 Civic Memorial on May 28. The semifinals and finals are in Highland on May 30 and June 1.

Complete schedules for all tournaments will appear later.

O'Fallon game rained out; girls prepare for sectional

Rain washed out the Lady Warrior soccer team's scheduled regular-season finale Wednesday in O'Fallon.

Granite City finished the regular season with a 14-3 record and will open sectional play as the top seed next Tuesday at home in a 7 p.m. game against either Lutheran East or Springfield Lanphier. Those teams play Saturday.

The Lady Warriors showed Lutheran East their strength Monday in a 10-0 win in Edwardsville. Junior Ann Logan led the assault with two goals and an assist. Freshman Christy Costello picked up the shutout.

"I'm anxious for the playoffs," said coach Gene Baker. "This is a wonderful group of girls. They have the darndest grade point average. It's something like a 4.8 average for the whole team."

Baker is hoping his team can get a little healthier in the next several days. Michelle Knox and Beth Rapoff in particular are nursing injuries.

"I haven't played Beth for a week and I might not play her for another week," said Baker. "It's a back problem she's had before."

"Graduation should be less of a distraction this year because we have so few seniors (three in the whole program). And the ones we have are dedicated. It will be a good sectional and we'll be ready."

Collinsville's Smith whitewashes girls

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

Collinsville's Amy Smith made quick work of the Lady Warrior softball team with her fourth shutout of the season Tuesday.

That broke a Kahok single-season record.

Jennifer Smith drove in both runs in a 2-0 win that only took 90 minutes to complete. The Lady Kahoks (20-9) have won 20 games for the first time ever, while Granite City fell to 2-14 heading into Wednesday's home double-header against Triad.

"We finally got our first 20-win season," said Collinsville coach Stan Schaeffer. "We've never even had more than a 13-win season before."

The Smith combination proved to be too much for the Lady Warriors, who have only scored 41 runs in 16 games and have been shut out five times.

"That girl pitched a good game, but we still stayed in it until the end," said coach John Hutchings. "The girls need to up their confidence a little more."

Amy Smith wasn't overpowered (three strikeouts). Her teammates made two harmless errors, and she didn't walk anyone while giving up three hits.

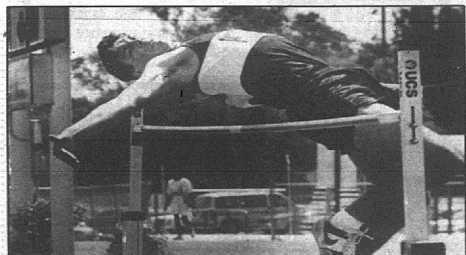

Collinsville scored the only run it needed in the third. Jennifer Keller singled with one out, but was forced by Karl Crnkovich, who stole second. Jennifer Smith's single made it 1-0.

The Lady Kahoks added the other run in the fifth as Crnkovich tripled and Jennifer Smith got a sacrifice fly.

Amy Smith retired 12 of the first 13 and was in trouble only twice. Jessica Thomas got the first Granite City hit in the fifth and was bunted to second by Dawn Bazzell. Nikki Coulter singled to center and Thomas came around third. But she stopped halfway and was caught in a rundown.

Curry repeats discus title; Warriors take 5th in SWC

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

In their last meet before sectionals, the Warrior track team finished fifth in the Southwestern Conference meet Monday at Belleville East.

Alton took a strong run at East St. Louis before the Flyers prevailed with 180 points to 166 for the Redbirds. The host Lancers were third with 97, followed by Belleville West (40), Granite City (35) and Collinsville (22).

Warrior coach Dave McClain was hoping to at least get by West, but his team fell five points shy. One reason for that was because McClain opted to leave his sophomores at the JV level instead of running them at varsity.

"I wasn't really disappointed with finishing fifth," said McClain. "I decided to run the sophomores at the other level. If we would have run them at varsity, we probably would have beaten West."

The usual cast of characters came through for the majority of Granite City's points, although there were some surprises.

Larry Curry, who has been throwing the discus in the 160-165 foot range on a consistent basis all year, threw 158-10 to win the SWC in that event for the second straight year. Curry picked up six more points by finishing third in the shot with a put of 48-9. He had won the shot put title last year.

"We feel he's ready for sectionals," said McClain. "Physically, he's where he should be. The other part is mental and that shouldn't be a problem."

Ron Selph, the Warriors' other sectional hopeful in the discus, is still suffering the aftereffects of the chicken pox. Selph threw 138-0 in the discus, good enough for fifth.

"Having the chicken pox took a lot out of Ronnie," said McClain. "He's been qualifying distance (152-0) already this year. He needs to get his strength back. He's capable. He just needs to come around."

Lance Reynolds continued his late-season improvement by finishing second in the mile with a time of 4:36. He'll have to trim 15 seconds to have a chance of advancing out of the sectional Friday in East St. Louis.

Eric Miner and Jim Clutts both jumped 6-2 to give the Warriors fourth and fifth places in the high jump. Miner also took fifth in the high hurdles with a time of 16.0.

Curry, Selph, and Reynolds are the best bets for the Warriors at the sectional. Curry should have little problem advancing in the discus, but it might be difficult for him to qualify in the shot put as well. If Selph has recuperated, one good throw will send him into Saturday. Reynolds has his work cut out for him as he'll go up against the area's top milers.

Expected instructors from the Cardinals are pitching coach Joe Coleman, hitting coach Don Baylor, outfield coach Dave Collins and infield coach Bucky Dent. Each camp participant will work in groups with all four coaches. Registration will begin May 25 and will be limited. Fees will be $25 for Khoury League participants (accepted first), $25 for others and $30 for same-day registration.

The Cardinal coaches offer more than 50 years of major league experience. Each participant will receive a free baseball bat and a chance for a free session at Dent's clinic later in June.

For more information, call Larry Monroe at 797-1532.

Eagles win two

The Granite City Eagles got the Mon-Clark League season off to a good start Sunday with two wins over O'Fallon.

Darin Hendrickson pitched a three-hit shutout as the Eagles won the first game 4-0. Hendrickson also had a two-run homer in the third inning. Daren DePew added an RBI triple in that inning, and John Moad added a home run in the sixth inning for the final run. Tim Hogan also had two hits.

Granite City scored seven runs in the third inning of the nightcap on the way to an 8-4 win. Hendrickson and Rich Takmanian had three hits each, with Hendrickson driving in two runs. Moad also had two hits. Tom Senecyn pitched the complete game and got the win, allowing eight hits, striking out four and walking only one.

Granite City threatened again in the seventh. Losing pitcher Mia Pulse threw an error or two with one out and Karen Sykes singled. Thomas grounded to short, and courtesy runner Robin Cain was out at third. Sykes and Thomas pulled off a double steal to put the tying runs in scoring position, but Dawn Bazzell grounded out to end the game.

club has really hit the ball well all year. You might be able to stop one or two of them, but somebody is going to hurt you somewhere along the line."

Leading the charge were shortstop Curt Fenchel (three hits, two runs, RBI), second baseman Kevin Kriete-meyer (single, double, run, three RBIs) and center fielder Chris Bonebrake (double, home run, two runs, two RBIs). The Kahoks improved to 15-6 in conference play heading into Wednesday's game with Edwardsville. Collinsville clinched at least a share of second place in the SWC.

The Warriors fell to 18-9 overall and 4-5 in league play with their third straight SWC loss. They can do no better than tie for third in the SWC and could finish in a tie for fourth. They finish the conference this afternoon in East St. Louis.

"I don't know how to explain it," said coach Bob Stegemeier. "We've been very mediocre the last three conference games. We don't get good swings, and our pitchers aren't pitching very smart."

Granite City took a 1-0 lead in the first on a single by Les Nunes, a stolen base and third baseman Derek Zirkelbach's error. But Marshall walked in the bottom of the first, then back-to-back doubles by Kriete-meyer and Bonebrake made it 3-0. Bonebrake scored on a fielder's choice.

The Warriors thought they had Forcha and Muniz struck out on close pitches, but they both drew walks.

"That's neither here nor there," said Stegemeier. "We have to come back and make another good pitch when that happens. Our pitchers can't ever seem to finish off an inning when they get two outs."

Bonebrake's home run made it 5-1 in the third. The Warriors got one back in the fourth as Marc Patton got away with some reckless baserunning. The Kahoks had him out easily trying to stretch a single into a double, but a wild throw allowed Bobby Wilson to score.

But Kriete-meyer singled home a run off Brent Dippel with two outs in the fourth, then the Kahoks got three more runs after two were out in the fifth. Zirkelbach and Forcha had RBIs hits in that frame.

"I thought we might be a little flat after we didn't handle the ball real well in the first inning," said McFall. "But we've come back in a lot of games. We've hit for a lot of power this year because a lot of these kids have learned to hit the curve ball."

Muniz walked four in the seventh to plate the first Warrior run, but he struck out Randy Scott to end it. Scott, expected to be one of Granite City's top pitchers, was making his first appearance of the year after injury problems.

"We haven't gotten much out of the guys I thought would be our top three pitchers this year (Marshall, Dippel and Scott)," said Stegemeier.

Granite Bowl honors high scorers for season

Dennis Rose, owner of Granite Bowl, announced that the 1991-92 bowling season produced 18 bowlers who will be honored by the ABC and WIBC for individual all high games and high series.

There were 15 perfect games by eight individuals in leagues and tournaments this year. Jeff Hogue has bowled five perfect games since September; T.J. Hogue had three and Alan Newberry had two. Larry Brooks, Rich Dooley, Austin Nettler, Stacy Jackson and Dan O'Shea had one each. Jeff Hogue now has 14 sanctioned and 19 unsanctioned 300 games.

"Bowling a 300 game never gets to be old hat," he said. "I still get nervous."

T.J. Hogue, who now has eight perfect games, still likes the challenge and competition.

"Despite the number of 300 games I've bowled, my biggest thrill was my first 300 series (in 1982)," he said. "I've had four more since then, but that was my biggest thrill."

Paul Deering left the 3, 5 and 6 on his final ball or he would have been one of the few to bowl perfect games right and left-handed. His 297 came while bowling left-handed. He has seven 300 games right-handed. Six women were recognized for outstanding achievement. Deb Brown's 297 was the high game, while Eve Hotson's 728 took top honors for series. Brown, Betty Arbiter, Gail Beaver and Rosemary Hogue were recognized for 719, 716, 713 and 712 series, and Gail Milton was singled out for a 289 game. Hotson had a 278 and Hogue a 290 game.

Hotson, Hogue and Beaver all bowl on "The Gang."

The non-contact instructional camp is designed to improve knowledge and skills while maintaining a high level of fun.

Correspondent

In what marks her first totally non-comedic role, Goldie Hawn in "CrissCross" plays a young woman of the 1960s who's forced to make some difficult personal choices.

The film is a somber, somewhat dark film that will be a tough sell to moviegoers used to seeing Goldie as a goofy blonde with plenty of sex appeal.

Hawn plays Tracy Cross, a young mother with a 12-year-old son named Chris, played effectively by David Amott. Tracy's husband, a traumatized Vietnam veteran portrayed by Keith Carradine, has abandoned her.

The situation leaves Tracy to raise her young son alone as she looks to straighten out her life. Part of that means moving to a rundown resort, called the Eden House Hotel, in Key West, Fla.

In addition to working as a waitress at the hotel, Tracy makes ends meet by working as an exotic dancer at a local bar. "CrissCross" paints a somber picture of Tracy and Chris' life together. It is especially poignant when Chris starts selling cocaine he gets from an off-shore fisherman running a drug mill from his boat.

"CrissCross" is an interesting and honest movie with some memorable moments, especially from Amott. However, it lacks the emotional chemistry between Hawn's character and Amott that would have made it a more memorable film.

Goldie Hawn both produces and stars in "CrissCross," the story of a mother trying to raise her teenage son alone at the end of the turbulent '60s.

Shrine parade, circus set

The 26th annual Southern Illinois Shrine Circus is coming to Granite City next week. The circus is set for performances May 28 and 29 at Gateway International Raceway, preceded by the annual Shrine Circus parade.

Chief Rabbi David L. McCann, 1992 general circus chairman, said the 1992 edition, an all-new show produced by George Hubler's International Super Circus, will open its Metro East run with a gigantic Belleville parade at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Circus performances in Belleville will be at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 23, and at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 24, at the Belle-Chair Fairgrounds.

After Belleville, the circus moves east to Olney with a parade at 1 p.m. Monday, May 25, followed by circus performances at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, May 25 and 26.

The circus then returns to the Metro East area for the Granite City parade, which will start at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 27. Circus performances will be at the Gateway International Raceway, Interstate 70 and Highway 203, at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, May 28 and 29.

There will be a circus parade at 3 p.m. Saturday, May 30, in downtown DuQuoin, followed by circus performances at the DuQuoin State Fairgrounds at 7:30 p.m. May 30 and at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 31.

The Southern Illinois Shrine Circus is sponsored by the nearly 8,000 nobles of Anad Temple, and is a benefit for Anad Temple.

Tickets are $4 in advance and $5 at the gate. Each ticket admits one adult or two children under age 12.

Tickets may be purchased from any Shriner or at the gate prior to the performance. Tickets are also available at all Metro East Schmucks stores, or any business displaying an "Anad Shrine Circus tickets available here" sign.
